Re: Aesha De La Cruz v. American Airlines, Inc. and American Eagle
Airlines, Inc.
Index No. 19-cv-11339-RA

Dear Judge Abrams:

We represent defendants, American Airlines, Inc. and American Eagle Airlines, Inc. in the action commenced by Plaintiff, Aesha De La Cruz. We have spoken with Plaintiff's counsel, James Bacher, Law Office of J Bacher, PLLC, and the parties jointly make a request for an adjournment of the Initial Conference scheduled for January 24, 2020. This is the first request for an adjournment.

Plaintiff had initially served a Complaint on defendant, American Airlines Group Inc. for personal injuries arising from two flights. On December 19, 2020, this honorable court ordered that the parties appear for an Initial Conference on January, 24, 2020, and to submit a Joint Letter and proposed case management plan and scheduling order by January 17, 2020.

By Order of Stipulation of the Parties dated January 7, 2020, the cause of action against American Airlines Group Inc. in Plaintiff's Complaint was discontinued and American Airlines, Inc. and American Eagle Airlines, Inc. was added as defendants in the action. On January 8, 2020, Plaintiff filed her First Amended Complaint against defendants, American Airlines, Inc. and American Eagle Airlines, Inc. By Order of Stipulation of the parties, defendants' answers are due on January 28, 2020, after the date of the Initial Conference

We request an adjournment of the Initial Conference to allow defendants time to file an answer and conduct an investigation to ascertain appropriate defenses to the First Amended Complaint, and to be able to discuss with Plaintiff the issues and defenses of the action. If the Court agrees to the adjournment of the Initial Conference, the parties also request that the submission date of the Joint Letter and proposed case management plan and scheduling order also be extended to one week prior to the rescheduled Initial Conference date. Defendants respectfully request that if the Court agrees to adjourn the Initial Conference that it not be rescheduled for February 24, 2020, as undersigned counsel has a witness arriving from out of state on another case for a court-ordered deposition. Thank you.

Very truly yours,

/s/ Alice Chan
